

Cleopatra and The Mysteries of Egypt

A special exhibition at the California Science Center plus an IMAX film and lunch at Philippe's The Original!

The west coast premiere of Cleopatra: The Search for the Last Queen of Egypt, featuring the largest collection of its kind ever assembled in the U.S., will open at the California Science Center May 23, 2012. More than 150 priceless Egyptian artifacts illuminating the life of Cleopatra VII, one of the most provocative and powerful women in history, will be on view including colossal statues, jewelry, coins and items from her sunken palace in Alexandria and other ancient sites that were significant during her life as queen. Cleopatra: The Search for the Last Queen of Egypt immerses visitors in the experience of two present-day searches on land and sea for the elusive queen, which extend from the sands of Egypt to the depths of the Bay of Aboukir near Alexandria. The artifacts weigh in at about 30 tons in total, including two 16-foot granite statues of a Ptolemaic king and queen from the 4th – 3rd centuries B.C. This fascinating day begins with lunch at Philippe The Original, one of the oldest and best-known restaurants in Southern California! Established in 1908, Philippe's claims the distinction of having created the “French Dipped Sandwich.” After lunch, you’ll travel over to Exposition Park, home of the IMAX Theater and the California Science Center. You’ll first view the spectacular IMAX film titled, “Mysteries of Egypt,” followed by an audio-led tour of the Cleopatra exhibition. Don’t miss out on this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity!
