

An Afternoon with FRANKIE AVALON and Lunch at Edward's Steakhouse

FRANKIE AVALON's career spans three generations of music, with countless hit songs and more than 30 films – through his “beach” movies with Annette Funicello, and countless appearances on every major television variety show. The character of Teen Angel in the musical “Grease” was modeled on him, and his performance in that role in the hit movie that followed introduced him to a whole new generation of fans. When not spending time with his eight children and ten grandchildren, he continues to perform his high-energy show across the country. A stop for lunch at Edward's Steakhouse is also included before the show.
