LA JOLLA: THE JEWEL OF SAN DIEGO

EXPLORE THE JEWEL OF SAN DIEGO COUNTY WITH CURT TUCKER

With a dramatic coastline boasting incredible views, it's no surprise that La Jolla is one of the most popular beach destinations in the world. Surrounded on three sides by the sea and backed by the steep slopes of Mt. Soledad, La Jolla's natural beauty, abundance of activities and upscale village lifestyle ensure that it lives up to its nickname as "the jewel" of San Diego. La Jolla is also home to the Birch Aquarium at Scripps Institute of Oceanography and the Salk Institute for Biological Studies which we will visit today. Our first stop will be the Birch Aquarium La Jolla. Perched on a bluff overlooking the Pacific Ocean, the aquarium is part of the of the world-renowned Scripps Institute of Oceanography. Here we will explore the wonders of the ocean without even getting their toes wet. Featuring more than 60 habitats including three outdoor living tide pools, the aquarium is full of amazing coral reefs, thrilling sharks, remarkable seahorses, and many other weird and strange creatures of the deep. Next, we will head to downtown La Jolla, here you will have ample time to shop, stroll, and grab a bite to eat on your own. You will be impressed with the wide range of art galleries, one-of-a-kind boutiques, gorgeous views, and great restaurants. After lunch, we will take a short jaunt north and on the campus of the University of California San Diego is the Salk Institute, known as the most significant architectural site in San Diego. Recognized throughout the world for its biological research and founded by polio vaccine developer Jonas Salk. This architectural wonder constructed in the 1960s by modernist architect Louis I. Kahn includes a foot-wide "Stream of Life" that flows through the center of a travertine marble courtyard between the twin structures that sit on the bluffs overlooking the Pacific Ocean.
